

12th European Head and Neck Course

Overview

This three day course will cover the current management of head and neck cancer within a multidisciplinary framework. The format will consist of lectures, panel discussions and videos. There will be a series of keynote lectures dealing with more controversial topics. There will be time allocated for audience participation through question and answer sessions. The course is suitable both for trainees (residents and fellows) in otolaryngology, oral and maxillofacial surgery, (plastic) surgery, radiation oncology and medical oncology, and other specialist as well as providing a stimulating update for practicing surgeons and physicians.

Objectives

The course aims to present a multidisciplinary approach towards the up-to-date management of patients with head and neck cancer through the use of surgery, radiotherapy and chemotherapy. Emphasis will be given to recent advances in diagnostics and treatments. Through panel discussions and question and answer sessions, the delegates will benefit from the experience of a faculty assembled from many of the leading head and neck centres in Europe and North America.
